The War Ended! The following from the Buffalo Advertiser of the 23d instrist the latest from the frontier It seems that the disturbantes upon the Michigan borders are at an ond; and quiet is again restored.

We now have information on which we can rely; as to the actual state of the "war." has een transferred from this vicinity to that neighborhood. There is no patriot force what. ever in arms, either in the provinces, or on this time, to the bare walls, the members having fled side unless it be some straggling Navy Island.

The force assembled at Bois Blanc Island; under "General" Sutherland, was dispersed by Gov. Mason, who went in the steambout Erie with about 100 citizen volunteers, for that pur pose. The number on the Island which never exceeded 350 were only some 200 poor miserable fellows, not more than TEN of them Canadi. ana, and they were all innded by the Governor at Gibral'ar, on the American side, nearly opposite Maldra, when they dispersed. The arms, &c. which had been stolen from the U. S. Arsenal, were duly taken charge of by Gov. M.

The general impression at Detroit was, that no farther attempt at a patriot invasion would be made or, if at all, not near that place. The authorities are too "meddlesome" to allow it. As an intance of the determination evinced by them, our informant states, that the guarda metually fired at a mob who were taking forcible presession of the steamboat Gen; Brady, woundng some of them, and compelling them to relinquish their lawless enterprise.

The persons taken in the schr Ann, captured by the British, said by the Detroit Post to have been "all massacred." appear to have been marched through the country to London, for safe keeping; which would show, pretty conclusively, that the "London District," so much talked of as the theatre of excitement and discontent, was at least quiet.

Duncombe seems quite intangible. His whereabouts cannot be learned with any sort of certainty. He is not, however, in arms. Little is said about him #1 Detroit-

MASSACHUSETTS AND RHODE IS. LAND.

The Supreme Court of the United States are now engaged upon the case of the State of Rhode Island vs the State of Massachusetts The facts of that case are briefly these. By the Charter glad to see that it is none the less amusing to its of Massachusetts Bay, the Southern boundary of that Colony was fixed at a line running East and West through the head of Charles river. A century ago or upward, Commissioners were appointed to run the line, and they fixed upon the head of Challes river, and run the line no. cordingly. Rhode Island complained at the time, that the Commissioners did not fix upon the true herd of the river, but that another head farther North, was the true head; and she now seeks to set aside the old boundary, and to establish a new one, which would give her a little strip of territory with about five thousand inhabitants on it. -

Massachusetts has pleaded to the jurisdiction of the Court, and that is the point at present under consideration. Mr. Aitorney General Austin opened the case for Massachusetts, and he was followed by Mr. Hazard, who opened the case for Rhode Island. Mr. Southard of New Jersey, at the fast accounts, was closing for Rhode Island, and Mr. Webster will close the case for Massachusetts. All accounts agree in representing the opening remarks of Mr. Austin as extremely able and eloquent.

Upon the point of jurisdiction, we are inclined to think that the care is against us, though we believe, that upon the main question, we shall beat our sparmenty. If we to your aright. Massachusetts has a sort of claim to the whole State of Rhode Island; and if that is the case, perhaps we had better file in our claim by way of offset. [Atlas.

FEMALE MODESTY. We do not know to whom we ought to give credit for the following neatly written scree:

"Perhaps few female graces have such captivating powers, as modesty. It is one of the most distinguished and attractive characterestics of the sex. It insensibly deprives the profligate of his wanton schedies, and exalts his mind to deference. Modesty has a double effect; it heightens the desire of the lover, and determ him lum radeness. Were woman to lose this amiable quality, all her charins would vanish, and the ardor of love he extinguished. Their beauty would be contemptible, their address disgusting, and their conversation loathsome. There is no bart of the female character that men revere so much as modesty. A woman without modesty, instead of gaining the affections of men, becomes an object of abhorrence. There is no part of creation so insufferably disagreeable to men of delicate taste and real merit, as an immodest woman. On the contrary, modesty is the highest and most valuable jewel that adorns the female breast. It is the legitimate offspring of a noble mind. It is the criterion of innucence, the badge of purity, and the sure presage of future dignity and happiness. It is that which makes woman levely, which height no the charms of beauty, supplies the want of it, sincliorates the passions of men, and commands their perpetual admiration 4-

1 PGELABLE PULMONARY BAL-SAM. The following recommendation is from Dr. Jacob Myers: Extract of a letter from Dr. Jacob Muers.

"The Vegetable Unimporty Balsam has been sold in this country for two years, and the medicine has gamed an uncommon celebrity, far it scarcely in one mistance failed of having the desired effect, I am by no means in layer of the many postrums most of which are impositions upon a credition public, but that which I know by experience to be of Tectual: I cannot help but give my approbation thereto. A counterful preparation has been offered bere by a travelling agent of Countock, N. Y., and there is also another article vended here that is strongly suspected to be sporious.
